WASHINGTON.

Senator Dolph Makes Answer to Gov. Pennoyer.

HERMANN MAKES A SPEECH.

The Interstate Commerce Bill Passes the House and is Now Ready for the President's Consideration.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Senator Dolph, being asked concerning the references to himself in Gov. Pennoyer's message, received by to-day's mail, replied: "Taking the whole message together, it is a curiosity. Pennoyer is a writer of ability and a man of good intentions, but he is eccentric. Some of his recommendations are excellent, but he has evidently forgotten that the war of the rebellion largely settled the doctrine of state rights, and so [illegible] wrong is he in nearly every proposition of [illegible] I was surprised in his message that it would be a surprise to most people to know that I was once admitted to the bar of Oregon. So far as my action concerning the boat railway at The Dalles is concerned, he must have known that I had announced myself to the Portland board of trade to be in favor of the project and had introduced at an early day in the present session a resolution providing for the survey.

WAGON ROAD GRANTS.

As to the bill forfeiting the wagon road grants, it is substantially what was recommended by the Oregon legislature and the very best measure that could be got through the committee on public lands. It was reported as directed by the committee and approved by Senator Mitchell. The bill is subject to amendment in the house, but no action has been taken upon it there. The singling out of my bill and the criticism of my action comes with poor grace after the labor I have [illegible] upon the matter to carry out the wishes of the state, and especially so as no other measure has ever been proposed in either branch of congress.

THE WILLAMETTE BRIDGE BILL.

As regards the Willamette bridge bill, the governor is as grossly ignorant of the laws of congress as he is of the laws. The law is that congress has power to authorize the construction of bridges over navigable rivers. Several bills have been passed during the present congress authorizing the construction of bridges over the Willamette river and other navigable waters of the state. The committee on commerce has a certain set of provisions to which all bridge bills are made to conform, including a provision for the use of railroad bridges by other railroads. I introduced the bill in question as it was sent to me, printed, as a matter of convenience, knowing that if reported favorably it must be made to conform to the recommendations of the secretary of war and to the usual provisions of such bills. The war department has not, as the governor supposes, anything to do with carrying the bill into effect. The bill has been referred to the secretary of war, as all such bills are, for his recommendation, and nothing will be done until his report is received. The insinuation that I am acting in the interests of railroads in this matter or in any other is not justifiable, as the record shows that every vote and every act of mine in the senate, including my vote upon the inter-state commerce bill and my efforts to secure large appropriations for the rivers and harbors of Oregon, have been in the interest of the people of that state."

A SPEECH BY HERMANN.

In last night's debate on the interstate commerce bill, Hermann said that on this question it was his sole desire to represent the people of his own state. In view of the diversity of its interests, its boundless resources and its magnificent possibilities, the responsibility imposed upon him at this moment was great. From his intimate acquaintance with his people he believed they favored some radical legislation on the part of the national government restricting common carriers in interstate commerce to reasonable rates. Oregon is becoming a great producing state, and its shipments go largely on short haul to the seaboard. Here the producer bears the heaviest burden. But for the greatest remedy he looked beyond state or inter-state legislation. In the ultimate improvement of her rivers and harbors lies the safety of Oregon. Give us deep channels and open rivers to the sea and we shall be content. They will do more for the producer than all the laws we can devise. No pools, no rebates, no long and short hauls need then be feared. The interstate commerce bill may be an experiment and may have errors, but time and experience will disclose how far these exist and how they may be remedied. He then entered into the general character of the bill, and later held up the great future of the Northwest and the necessity for protecting the interests of labor therein and regulating the relationship between the transporter and shipper.

WARM SPRINGS RESERVATION.

Mitchell introduced a resolution to-day directing the secretary of the interior to advise the senate whether four townships or any other quantity of the public lands in Wasco county have within the past year been withdrawn from settlement and attached to the Warm Springs reservation, and if so on what authority and for what purposes this has been done.

ALASKA.

The house committee on territories to-day appointed Representatives Hill, Toole and Hermann a sub-committee to examine and report on bills introduced at the last session providing for the organization of the territory of Alaska and the establishment of a civil government therefor.

Mitchell has introduced a bill to place the name of Wm. Weist of Hood River on the pension roll; also to pay Herman Smith of Harrisburg, $[illegible] for depredations by Indians. T. C. [illegible]

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—In the senate to-day Mr. Colquitt, in presenting a petition from the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of the District of Columbia, said that he assumed no responsibility for the startling facts revealed in the petition, but he did answer for the pure motives and high character of those who laid it before the senate. [illegible] petition was strong and aggressive and [illegible] an investigation of the facts. It was a [illegible] mothers and wives made to this body of grave and reverend signors for protection [illegible] excess of vice and lawlessness as [illegible] humiliate the senate. [illegible] disregard the voice of woman raised in behalf of society, purity and [illegible] morals. He asked that the petition be read at length and referred to the district committee.

The petition was read. It charges the commissioners of the District of Columbia with disregarding the purity, safety and moral interests and rights of the people, and asserts that in direct violation of law they have been for months past permitting and protecting gambling hells, pool rooms and drinking establishments, as well as dens of prostitution and vices, giving numerous particulars. It charges that a house owned by one of the commissioners is used as an office by the agent of the [illegible] lottery, and that Frank Hume, the president of the liquor dealers' association, is a bondsman of one of the commissioners. It therefore prays for a thorough investigation of the facts and for the proper enforcement of law and the protection of the [illegible] within the district.

Mr. Hawley remarked that the petition just read was a tremendous indictment, and a showing [illegible] suggested that [illegible] with a resolution calling for a thorough and severe investigation.

[illegible]

Brown offered a resolution which was adopted requesting the president to communicate to the senate copies of all correspondence with the government of Mexico in regard to the seizure of the American schooner [illegible], also copies of all correspondence between the state department and the late Minister Jackson [illegible]

[illegible]

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. [illegible] After the reading of the journal the speaker [illegible] was to vote upon the adoption of the conference report [illegible] to have a separate [illegible] and also to have a separate vote of the claims [illegible] sioner feature, but Crisp of Georgia objected to both requests.

Durham of Illinois moved to recommit the bill to the conference committee, and Crisp raised a point of order against it.

The speaker knew of no rule which authorized recommittal of a conference report, and sustained the point of order.

THE BILL PASSES.

O'Neill of Pennsylvania inquired whether there was any parliamentary proceeding by which those gentlemen who were embarrassed by having to vote for or against an important bill with objectionable [illegible] an opportunity to divest it of its objectionable [illegible] and be relieved of that embarrassment. [illegible] suggestion to that end was made.

A vote was then taken on the adoption of the conference report and it was agreed to—yeas [illegible], nays [illegible].

Those voting in the negative were: [illegible] Frederick, [illegible] Grosvenor, Hayden, Hill, [illegible] Markham, [illegible] McKenna, Miller, Morrow, Oates, O'Neill of Missouri, [illegible] Wait, Weaver of Iowa and White of Pennsylvania.

The bill, after being enrolled and signed by the presiding officers of the two houses, will be sent to the president for his action.

Crisp of Georgia, from the committee on [illegible] reported a resolution [illegible] passengers, cars and steamboats [illegible] adopted.

CANADIAN DEPRIVATION.

[illegible] of New York offered a resolution which was referred to the committee on foreign affairs [illegible] in regard to the deprivation [illegible] in Canadian ports on American fishing vessels having the right to touch and trade [illegible] and to purchase merchandise therein and [illegible] to American trading vessels and to vessels of all other nations.

Skinner of North Carolina presented a conference report upon the bill for the allotment of lands in severalty to the Indians and it was agreed to.

Baker of New York, from the committee on [illegible] reported a bill for the appointment of an [illegible] justice of the supreme court in each [illegible] referred to committee of the whole.

The house then proceeded to the consideration of private business.

The evening session the house passed [illegible] a pension [illegible] to the widow of Gen. Thos. Francis Meagher [illegible] adjourned till to-morrow.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS.

NATIONAL BOARD OF TRADE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The national board of trade to-day discussed a resolution favoring government aid in the improvement of the Columbia river. Senator Dolph of Oregon spoke in its favor, but the resolution was rejected. The following resolution, submitted by the Chicago board of trade, was adopted after a short discussion:

Resolved, That the immediate attention of the national congress be called to the effect of contagious diseases in animals upon the internal and external commerce of the country and the necessity for such legislation as will provide for the control and suppression of such diseases.

A resolution was proposed by the Cincinnati chamber of commerce advocating the repeal of so much of the Bland law as provides for the coinage of standard silver dollars, and authorizing the president of the United States to take such steps for international intercourse and treaty as will promptly tend towards the establishment of a uniform national system of bimetallism, and to make such appropriations as may be necessary to make the president's authority in the matter effective. This was also adopted.

A resolution also submitted by the Cincinnati chamber of commerce, asking congress to consider at an early day the feasibility and practicability of converting $1,000,000,000 of the present bonded debt into long term bonds bearing interest at the rate of 2 per cent. per annum, with a view to use of them as security for national government deposit and other forms of trust, was, after a brief discussion, adopted.

A resolution to the effect that the most imperative duty imposed on congress is the adoption of [illegible] coast and seaports of our country, and to make adequate appropriations therefor, and that the defenses of the harbors of New York and San Francisco should be the work first undertaken as involving the largest risk and being the least protected of our large cities, was adopted, as was also a resolution proposed by the New York board of trade and transportation favoring a reciprocity treaty with Canada and the republic of Mexico.

MRS. EMMONS'S DEFENSE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—By order of the marshal women were to-day excluded from the court room where the Emmons lunacy trial is in progress. On many occasions during the progress of the case the women present have indulged in such noisy manifestations of sympathy with Mrs. Emmons's cause as to call forth yesterday a very positive protest from the opposing counsel, the justice of which the marshal recognized by issuing an order excluding women from the room.

Dr. Lincoln was recalled to the stand and said he thought Mrs. Emmons had an unusual capacity for managing her affairs.

Dr. A. P. Garnett of this city was next called. He did not consider Mrs. Emmons an insane woman.

Dr. J. Ford Thompson was called to the stand and testified that he was asked by Dr. Lincoln to see Mrs. Emmons four weeks ago to examine her mental condition. He had an interesting conversation with her. He was impressed with the fact that she was a very intelligent woman. He did not think she was insane.

The defense announced that they had but one more witness to examine. Adjourned till Monday.

EARLY HISTORY OF THE NATION.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Senator Sherman, president pro tem., to-day laid before the senate a letter from the secretary of state transmitting copies of a memorial signed by the representatives of several historical societies and by many eminent men of letters in the United States, and especially by those engaged in historical pursuits, setting forth the great value and importance of a full and accurate digest and catalogue of the numerous documents found in the public and private archives of Europe relating to the early history of the United States, and especially to the period between the treaty of Paris in 1763, by which Great Britain acquired from France the title to the northwest territories of America, and the treaty of peace between the United States and Great Britain in 1783. Mr. Stevens, in a letter to the secretary, which accompanies the message to the president pro tem., says that he has discovered many valuable historical works; that the work has become too great for any individual to undertake alone unless [illegible] and that, when completed, the index will probably comprise 150,000 documents, and when printed will fill 80,000 royal octavo pages.

NEW MEXICO LAND CLAIMS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The commissioner of the general land office has sent to the secretary of the interior for transmission to congress a report by the surveyor-general of New Mexico on [illegible] private land claims in that territory. In [illegible] recommends that [illegible] to thirty-six persons named in the act of judicial possession, their heirs and legal representatives. The area of this grant is about 18,000 acres. In the case of the Canada de Santa Clara claim No. 118, the surveyor-general recommends that it be confirmed to the inhabitants of the pueblo of Santa Clara. The area is about 40,000 acres. The surveyor-general also recommends the rejection of the [illegible] In each of these recommendations, the commissioner concurs.

OREGON SWAMP LANDS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—In the matter of the swamp lands selected for [illegible] to the state of Oregon and embraced in list number five, covering [illegible] acres, the secretary of the interior has made an order for the state to show cause, on or before Monday, April 18th next, why the certificate of said list should not be revoked and set aside and a reexamination of the lands ordered. This action [illegible] is the result of an investigation from which it appears that the list was procured to be certified through the fraud of a government agent charged with the examination of the lands and others conspiring with him for that purpose.

DEATH OF MRS. VOORHEES.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Mrs. Voorhees, wife of Senator Voorhees, died at their residence in this city at [illegible] o'clock of acute peritonitis. She was taken sick on Monday last with congestive chills, followed by inflammation of the bowels, which later [illegible] fatally. The remains will be taken to Terre Haute, probably to-night, and funeral services will be held there Sunday next.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

Wherein Dr. McGlynn has Offended the Propaganda.

HE REFUSES TO GO TO ROME

The Inventor of the Telephone—New York Millionaires and the Grant Monument—Pinkerton Detectives Denounced

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Archbishop Corrigan to-night makes public a [illegible] written statement in regard to the McGlynn case. It goes back to 1882, when Dr. McGlynn first dared to have disobeyed the mandate of Rome against the making of political speeches by priests, and when under correction [illegible] refrain from further offending. In [illegible] he was called to account again. [illegible] He made a public statement [illegible] profession of obedience [illegible] politics [illegible] August last [illegible] George [illegible] mayor [illegible] September [illegible] gives the text of a note sent by [illegible] to Dr. McGlynn reminding him [illegible] and forbidding him in positive [illegible] to attend the Henry George meeting at Chickering hall on the following Friday. To this Dr. McGlynn replied that he would address the meeting [illegible] the prohibition. To this the cardinal wrote that it was not a matter of this or that political party, but a violation of the [illegible] propaganda, and that he was sorry to be compelled to suspend him from all sacerdotal [illegible] for two weeks. The cardinal then follows with reference to his pastoral [illegible] Dr. McGlynn remaining obdurate, he was again suspended [illegible] Dec. [illegible] there came from the propaganda the [illegible] "Let Dr. McGlynn proceed to Rome [illegible]"

[illegible]

The cardinal proceeds: "The cablegram was as [illegible] When the telegram was delivered Dr. McGlynn [illegible] replied: 'There is no answer' [illegible] paid no further heed to [illegible] To this date no answer seems to have been sent to Rome asking any extension of time or professing any willingness to comply with the order. In December [illegible] Dr. McGlynn [illegible] when after waiting four days longer he wrote on D[illegible] that he could not go to Rome, and at the same time reaffirmed his doctrinal [illegible] as follows: 'My doctrine about land has been made clear in speeches, in reported interviews and in published articles, and I repeat it here. I have taught and I shall continue to teach in speeches and in writing as long as I live that land is rightfully the property of the people in common, and that private ownership of land is against natural justice, no matter by what civil or ecclesiastical laws it may be sanctioned, and I would bring about instantly, if I could, such change of laws all the world over as would confiscate private property in land without a penny of compensation to the miscalled owners.'"

HE WILL NOT GO TO ROME.

Under December [illegible], the cardinal writes in reply reciting the above declarations by Dr. McGlynn, and continuing his suspension until further instructions should be received from Rome. The statement then proceeds as follows: "Early in January a most kind and conciliatory letter came from Cardinal Simeoni for Dr. McGlynn. He was invited to call and receive it, but refused [illegible] to come to see you. It was then forwarded by mail and a few days later a note came in reply from the doctor as follows: 'I have received Cardinal Simeoni's letter with your request that I inform you of my plans. I will not go to Rome. The grave reasons which I gave you in my letter of December 20th still hold good and will continue to do so for a long time.'"

In reply to this, under date of January 11, the archbishop writes saying that an exact copy of the last two letters of Dr. McGlynn, setting out his belief on the land question and his reason for declining to go to Rome, had been forwarded to the propaganda for its action, and that pending this the writer had decided to remove him (McGlynn) from the pastorate of St. Stephen's and place Father Donnelly in that position, and asking if he had any objections to offer.

The cardinal proceeds: "To this letter no answer was returned."

IN THE HANDS OF THE HOLY SEE.

On January [illegible] I received the following cablegram from Cardinal Simeoni: 'Give orders to have Dr. McGlynn again invited to proceed to Rome and also to condemn in writing the doctrines to which he has given utterance in public meetings or which have been attributed to him in the press. Should he disobey, use your own authority in dealing with him.' The original of this third summons was sent by mail on January [illegible] to Dr. McGlynn at St. Stephen's and a copy to his address in Harlem. [illegible] no answer. January [illegible] another telegram came like its predecessors, quite unexpectedly: 'The sovereign pontiff orders the doctor to Rome instantly.' This also was forwarded immediately by messenger with the request for an answer, but none has been received." Then follows the cardinal's letter to the committee of Dr. McGlynn's parishioners, the substance of which has already been given in these dispatches.

The statement closes as follows: "The latest phase of this unhappy conflict occurred this morning, when Archbishop Jacobini, secretary of the propaganda, cabled as follows: 'For prudential reasons the propaganda has hitherto been slow to act in the case of Dr. McGlynn. The sovereign pontiff has now taken the matter in his own hands.' The case now rests between Dr. McGlynn and the Holy See.

M. A. CORRIGAN,
Archbishop of New York.

SUIT FOR A CHILD.

James M. Patrick, a Wealthy Cattleman Trying to Get his Infant Daughter

DENVER, Jan. 21.—James M. Patrick, a wealthy ranchman near Denver, has brought suit in the courts of St. Louis to recover his infant child, who is heir to an estate of $1,000,000 and is supposed to have been abducted by his wife's people in order to secure the property. Patrick in 18[illegible] married a daughter of McManus, a very wealthy family of St. Louis, on which occasion his present to the bride was $50,000. The couple settled in [illegible] Tennessee, where a daughter was born. In [illegible] his wife's health failed and the family moved to Colorado, where he purchased a [illegible] According to Patrick's story, in the meantime dissensions arose in the McManus family, in which the child figured, it being the intention of McManus to get possession of the child [illegible] the mother on the plea of desertion and keep the property in the family. While Patrick was living on his ranch he sent the wife and child to Canon City, where a sister of Mrs. Patrick from St. Louis lived. [illegible] Soon after this Patrick [illegible] could receive no answers to his letters or telegrams to his wife, so went to Canon City only to discover that his wife, child and sister-in-law had suddenly departed, leaving no word [illegible] as to where they had gone. His wife at this time was ill and could not leave her bed. He immediately went to St. Louis, where he learned his wife was at her father's house, but he was not permitted to visit her. On the 9th of October last his wife died, leaving an estate of over $100,000, including the bridal present of $50,000, which fell into the hands of McManus. Not only did they secure this, but so influenced the wife that she disinherited the child and left her fortune to her brother, Ward McManus. The child has been spirited away and cannot be found. Patrick thinks she is confined in some asylum in Canada, and has brought suit for her recovery and also for the $50,000 dowry. Since Patrick's residence in Colorado he has been constantly annoyed by requisitions upon Gov. Eaton of Colorado from the governor of Tennessee for his arrest, which Gov. Eaton, after investigation, refused to honor. This Patrick claims is part of the work of Ward McManus to have him confined in prison on a trumped up charge.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—There have been no returns [illegible] to the Grant monument fund in New York, with the exception of $[illegible] and $[illegible] [illegible] to the committee by Mrs. Grant herself. A severe article on the subject from the Chicago [illegible] was handed about at one of the exchanges yesterday afternoon and excited much remark. The editor, after announcing Mrs. Grant's [illegible] says: "It is safe to assume that even [illegible] contribution will have no effect in stimulating New York city to do anything more. The [illegible] evidence published [illegible] Antonio Meucci [illegible] has in his possession [illegible] from the patent office which [illegible] to his claim to have invented the telephone and filed a caveat five years before Bell's patent was obtained. His discovery dates back to 1849, when he was director of mechanism in the Tacon opera house, Cuba. During his leisure hours he experimented on a plan to cure diseases by the aid of electricity. In the course of these experiments his assistant and himself being in different rooms were connected by an electrical circuit through the medium of wire. Meucci held a wire in his teeth, and by the well known dental connection with the auditory nerve distinctly heard an exclamation his assistant involuntarily made on experiencing a shock from the contact of the other end of the wire with his mouth. This discovery started Meucci on a series of investigations which resulted in the construction of a perfect working model similar to the instrument of Prof. Bell. His constant struggle with poverty interfered so in the perfection of his plans that it was not till 1871 that his caveat was granted. Documentary evidence now on file in the secret archives of the patent office, as also published by the Journal, show that claims of Meucci covering telegraphing sounds was recognized by the commissioner of patents, together with an acknowledgment of improvements in [illegible] and that these claims embody the great [illegible] patent issued to Prof. Bell.

THE LONGSHOREMEN'S BOYCOTT.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—The boycott by the Longshoremen's union of freight carried by the Old Dominion steamship company proceeded with its usual vigor to-day on both sides. The [illegible] says that nearly all the steamship companies with [illegible] are determined to resist the action of the strikers, and that the first boycotted freight handled by any of the steamship companies will be a signal for a general strike. The Longshoremen's union has not only boycotted the freight carried by the Old Dominion company, but also the lightermen who have let their boats to the Old Dominion company, as well as the lightermen whose captains are not union men. It is expected that the action of Judge Shipman in issuing an order compelling the French company to receive freight that had been brought into port by the Old Dominion company will hurry along a general strike.

Umatilla Indians Agree to Take Lands in Severalty—Two Murderers Sentenced to the Penitentiary for Life.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21.—A decision was made to-day in the circuit court by Judge Sawyer, which impairs still further the efficiency of the tattered remnants left of the Chinese restriction act. In January, 1884, a Chinaman named Long Yeck Dew came to this country in the steamer City of Peking and was refused landing by the surveyor. As is customary in such cases he was released on a writ of habeas corpus, but on the hearing was remanded by Judge Hoffman. He appealed to the circuit court and the judgment of the lower court was affirmed. This occurred nearly two and one half years ago. The case was then dropped until last [illegible], when United States Attorney Hilborn discovered that the Chinaman had never departed. Action was at once begun against his bondsmen, [illegible] Foo and Leung Dew Fong. When the case was called to-day they had an array of Chinese witnesses to testify that Dew had really sailed, so the case was dismissed. Collector Hager [illegible] that a similar course of procedure will be adopted by the friends of every Chinaman remanded by the courts, so that in future it will be utterly impossible to get a Chinaman out of the country after he has once left the steamer on which he came.

A SINGULAR CASE.

Thomas [illegible], the Disappeared [illegible], Proves to be Thos. Watson, a Convict.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21.—The whereabouts have been learned of Thomas H. Harvey, an engineer, who left his home in company with some friends on the night of December 15 last, and who have since been missing. Mrs. Harvey has received [illegible] from her husband, [illegible] his disappearance. He wrote that on [illegible] he went with his friends to [illegible] and suddenly became unconscious. When he awoke next morning he found that he [illegible] friends had been shanghaied on board a whaler bound for the Arctic and was then several miles at sea. At [illegible] the three tried to escape but were recaptured. The prospects are that Harvey will not be able to return to his family until [illegible] when the whaling fleet returns.

THE TRUTH DISCOVERED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21.—Thomas Harvey, who disappeared on the 15th of December and whose wife received a letter yesterday from him stating that he had been shanghaied on board a whaler, has been discovered to be the man who under the name of Thomas Watson was sentenced on Saturday to six years imprisonment in San Quentin for stealing a ten cent purse from a woman. Suspicion was first aroused as to the truth of the statements in the letter from the fact that the letter was dated only two weeks back, and that no mention was made as to the vessel he had been shanghaied aboard. This led to an examination of the envelope, and it was found to have a San Francisco post mark. Detectives took the case in hand with the above result. Harvey had written a letter to his wife in the hope of keeping her in ignorance of his disgrace. When she was informed of the true state of affairs she was very much affected and shed tears copiously.

FINANCES OF PRUSSIA.

BERLIN, Jan. 21.—Herr Von Scholz, Prussian minister of finance, to-day presented a budget to the lower house of the Prussian diet. This states that the trade of Prussia has improved, decreasing the deficiency in revenues and grants for the provincial district authorities of the kingdom, a call for 66,000,000 marks instead of [illegible] as in the previous year. The railway receipts for the fiscal year will exceed the expenses by 20,000,000 marks. The receipts from the income tax will be larger than heretofore, proving that the prosperity of the [illegible] population is much increased. Statistics show the population in the rural districts has lessened. In conclusion the budget states that the [illegible] rejection of the army bill has placed all other questions in the background. On this account the finance minister has abstained from referring to the development of indirect taxation.

AN ARMED PEACE.

BERLIN, Jan. 20.—The North German Gazette, referring to the report that France is about to erect wooden barracks on the frontier, states that it is doubtful that France is collecting on the frontier more troops than her fortresses and garrisons are able to shelter. The National Zeitung reaffirms its statement that an order forbidding the exportation of horses will shortly be issued.

The North German Gazette, Prince Bismarck's organ, speaking of the organization of the Red Cross society, says the army may speedily demand its help.

BERLIN, Jan. 21.—An inspired letter from Berlin says: In government circles here the situation is regarded as serious. There can be no question that France is preparing military camps on the German frontier. It remains to be seen whether a plausible reason can be given to this.

PORTLAND, SATURDAY, JANUARY 22, 1887

SIGLIN'S "INVESTIGATION."

Siglin, undoubtedly, in the course of the "investigation" now in progress, will put on the stand all the leading members of the legislative ring with which he is associated, to prove that there is no ring, and they will all swear stoutly on this point. They will swear that there have been no promises, no bargains, no combinations for any purpose whatever that the senate simply organized itself in an easy and natural way, that in the struggle to prevent the senate from appointing the committees and to give the power to appoint into the hands of the president, no engagements were made, and that such little incidents as offering chairmanships and providing places for members of the Rinehart and Watts families are in no way significant, but "just happened so." To sustain all this there will be abundant testimony—and then who will believe it?

One thing, however, is certain, to-wit: Senator Wager will be sustained, not only by his own constituency, but by the people of the whole state. Whether the East Oregonian's articles were written by Mr. Wager or not, the people fully believe that their statements are substantially true. They know that Siglin himself is an associate of the Mitchell republican gang; they have not failed to observe that on all points which the "gang" have endeavored to carry they have had the active support of Siglin and other so-called democratic senators, including particularly those named by the East Oregonian. Some of the inducements and rewards pertaining to this arrangement, and presumably leading up to it, have come to light, and the natural supposition is that more remain behind. Yet it is not supposed that the principal conditions will ever become public, they are necessarily of a kind that must be secret, and they can only be inferred from the actions of all the parties. It is entirely certain, however, that no combination of this kind can rest on nothing. There is a center of gravity somewhere, and if it could be pursued to its ultimate abiding place it would be found in individual interests, working out their several ways through the instinct of combination.

"Investigation" by a committee of such a matter is a farce, because every member of the ring will deny on oath that any ring exists, each and every person who has become a party to the combination will swear that he has never heard of any combination, and that so far as he knows there is none. But every observer has the evidence of his own senses in the proceedings and results, and will receive with contempt the expected disclaimers of the members of the ring. If Siglin himself should go before the committee and declare on oath that he never had, either in his own person, or through others, any communication with Simon, Steel, and other republican members of the "gang," about the organization of the senate, the appointment of committees or the course of legislation on any matter whatever, the [illegible] of the public not simply with a grain of salt: there would be need of a mountain of it, and even then it couldn't be chewed without disgust, and wouldn't be swallowed at all.

It is universally known that there is a ring in the legislature, composed partly of republicans and partly of democrats. "But how do you know?" A question infinitely silly: the great obscene posteriors of the bird give proof enough, though his head is in the bush. The actions of the ring make the existence of the ring as plain as if all the particulars and conditions of the association were given out for publication. This republican-democratic cabal is substantially the same that elected Mitchell to the senate. That act was the basis of the present combination, or at least was the introduction to it. Among men who do a thing of this kind there is a touch of nature that makes them all kin. Such affinities are far stronger than any of the obligations of party, or any sense of duty to the state. It is as natural for them to combine as for drops of water to coalesce. Get such men together in a legislative body and they will "pool their issues" every time.

But though this investigation will undoubtedly be a farce in its proceedings, it may do good in its results. It will tend to widen the gulf between those who insist on open, honorable and fair legislative proceedings and those who would use legislative opportunities for individual, personal, political, corporate, and other like ends. It will tend to make combinations between men like Simon and Steel on one side and Siglin and Rinehart on the other more and more odious. The combination that elected Mitchell ruined, politically, the members of both parties that went into it, as the election of last June fully demonstrated. The present combination in the legislature, which is but a continuance of that one, will wreck the political fortunes of every man of either party that is associated with it. Just wait and see. The men who take the stand that Senator Wager has taken are the men whom the people of Oregon will trust and sustain.

MUNGER'S ANTI-CHINESE BILL

Munger of Multnomah, following a recommendation of Gov. Pennoyer, has introduced a bill to provide that it shall be unlawful for any Chinaman not a resident of Oregon at the time of the adoption of the state constitution to hold, own or lease any real estate or mining claim or to work in any mine, and making it the duty of the sheriffs of the several counties to enforce this law, under penalty, for neglect, of not less than $100 nor more than $500. It is proposed to provide further that any Chinaman suffering damage through the enforcement of the act may appeal to the [illegible] of the county in which he lives for redress, and that the [illegible] a committee of three to assess the damages and that the same shall be paid from the county treasury, provided, however, that before receiving any damages the Chinaman making application shall transfer to the county all his right, title and interest in his claim or real estate. Any Chinaman or officer refusing to comply with the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and punishable by fine or imprisonment.

This is another of those foolish and famous efforts which have been made from time to time in our Pacific states and territories during many years past. In the present case it doesn't help matters in the least degree to say that the bill is based on a provision of the constitution of the state, which declares that "no Chinaman not a resident of the state at the adoption of this constitution, shall ever hold any real estate or mining claim, or work any mining claim therein." For that provision is as wholly void as the similar declaration in another article of the same instrument, that no free negro or mulatto not residing in the state at the time of the adoption of the constitution shall come, reside, or be within the state, hold any real estate, make any contracts or maintain any suit, and that the legislature shall provide by penal law for removal of all such negroes and mulattoes from the state, for their perpetual exclusion therefrom, and for punishment of all persons who shall bring them into the state, harbor, or employ them. Provisions like these are relics of a barbarism, based on the pretensions of state supremacy, that have gone down under enlightened legislation, assisted by the strong hand of war waged in support of nationality and civilization.

As to the Chinese, the question raised now is simply this, viz. Is the state of Oregon superior in authority and power to the United States? For the government of the United States has made treaties with China, which declare that subjects of the Chinese empire, residing in the United States, shall have all the privileges and immunities accorded to subjects of the most favored nation. And this supersedes the constitution of Oregon, where the latter is in conflict with it, and likewise it makes of no effect any law in conflict with it which the legislature may enact. The constitution of the United States, Art. VI, declares: "This constitution and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof, and all treaties made, or which shall be made under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land, and the judges in every state shall be bound thereby, anything in the constitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding."

This is an extremely simple matter. Subjects of the Chinese empire here are entitled, by treaty, which is the "supreme law," "anything in the constitution of the state to the contrary, nothwithstanding," to all the immunities and privileges enjoyed by the subjects of the most favored nation. It follows, therefore, that if the subject of Great Britain, of France, of Germany, or other most favored nation, has the right to lease or own real estate or work in a mine, the subject of China has the same right also; and it is a right moreover that the United States, upon appeal to its authority, will certainly enforce. There have, indeed, been attempts heretofore to override the authority of the United States, but history does not record that such attempts have met with remarkable success, except as a means of getting somebody hurt.

Moreover, the statutes of the United States are entirely specific and cover this very matter. Section 1977 of the revised statutes, passed to give effect to the fourteenth amendment, declares that "all persons within the jurisdiction of the United States shall have the same right in every state and territory to make and enforce contracts, to sue, be parties, give evidence, and to the full and equal benefit of all laws and proceedings for the security of persons and property as is enjoyed by white citizens, and shall be subject to like penalties," etc. Chinese residing in Oregon are "persons within the jurisdiction of the United States," and they are entitled to "the equal benefits of all laws and proceedings for the security of persons and property as are enjoyed by white citizens." The courts have sustained this statute against those who have attempted to enforce discriminating laws against the Chinese, and Justice Field, a jurist of sufficient authority, has declared that "this inhibition upon the state applies to all the instrumentalities and agencies employed in the administration of its government, to its executive, legislative and judicial departments, and to the subordinate legislative bodies of counties and cities. And the equality of protection thus assured to every one while within the United States, from whatever country he may have come, or of whatever race or color he may be, implies not only that the courts of the country shall be open to him on the same terms as to all others for the security of his person or property, the prevention or redress of wrongs, and the enforcement of contracts, but that no charges or burdens shall be laid upon him which are not equally borne by others, and that in the administration of criminal justice he shall suffer for his offenses no greater or different punishment."

This is the settled law of the land, and any effort to ignore it, or to reverse it by state action, is mere childishness. What's the use of "fooling" forever on this subject? Better hearken to common sense and let it alone. Or, is [illegible] demagogue [illegible] of whom it is said in the Proverbs: "Though thou shouldst bray a fool in a mortar among wheat with a pestle, yet will not his foolishness depart from him."

SENATORS ELECTED

Massachusetts has re-elected Henry L. Dawes to the United States senate, while New York replaces Senator "Wood Pulp" Miller with Frank Hiscock. Massachusetts has not acted with wisdom. Dawes is in his 72d year. He has served eighteen years in the lower house of congress, and has been continuously in the senate since March, 1875, when he took his seat as the successor of Charles Sumner. Mr. Dawes has been a man of faithful, upright, but not brilliant public service, and it was bad public policy to send him back to congress at a time when he ought to begin to think about his shroud instead of struggling his way back to the senate. Ex-Gov. Long, a very brilliant man, of stainless public and private life, 49 years of age, was warmly supported by the young working blood of the old Bay state, and was a far better man for the senate than Dawes ever was in his best days. It was a foolish slap in the face of the live and progressive portion of the party to reject Long for such a "lean and slippered pantaloon" statesman as Dawes. It dampens the zeal of the young, aspiring and energetic republicans to be told in substance that young men are expected to do all the hard work while the old men hang on to all the honors, refusing to let go their clutch until they are so near death's door that, as Tom Hood said, they can hear the creaking of the hinges. Webster and Clay at 73 were but wandering, gibbering ghosts of their best power, and Dawes at 72, and Morrill, of Vermont, at 77, are not even the fading shadows of a once great fame, for in their best days they were but industrious "respectabilities." Morrill has four years to serve, and will be 81 when his term expires. He is in feeble health and lay at the point of death last winter. His hearing is greatly impaired as is his eyesight. It is bad public policy to re-elect old men to the senate who have never been conspicuous for ability or usefulness, and it is no kindness to the old war horses to allow them to die in the harness. They ought to be turned out to pasture to graze and stray and stray and graze, until they stumble into the grave. When an ordinary man has been more than forty years in congress his task is taught and it is time for him to see that his shroud is wrought.

But while Massachusetts has acted with notable folly New York has displayed wisdom in replacing Miller, who is a mere commonplace, cunning politician and demagogue, with Hiscock, who is the ablest and best equipped republican in congress, with the exception of Reed, of Maine, and Long, of Massachusetts. Hiscock is in his [illegible] year, of tall, stalwart, handsome presence. He was educated at the common schools, rose to be an eminent lawyer, and entered public life with his election from the [illegible] New York district in 18[illegible] to the 45th congress. He has since been regularly re-elected in a close district, and in ten years has risen to the front rank of the lower house. In his first term Mr. Hiscock rose at once to such distinction that he was chosen one of the republican members of the Potter committee, which discovered the Tilden cipher telegrams. He was next appointed a member of the committee on appropriations, and in the 47th and 48th congresses was pressed for speaker against Keifer. Hiscock was conspicuous in securing the reduction of the internal revenue by $[illegible],000,000, in the passage of the tariff commission bill, the anti-Mormon bill, the reapportionment bill, and the bill for the reorganization of the national banks. In the forty-eighth congress he was a member of the ways and means committee, and defeated Morrison's horizontal tariff reduction bill. He defeated in the forty-ninth congress the bill for the free coinage of silver and last winter opened with great ability the debate in opposition to Morrison's resolution in favor of expending the "surplus" revenues. This is a remarkable record of continuous and able activity for ten years of service in congress and New York is to be congratulated upon having at last sent a man to the senate who will not rattle around in the shoes of Roscoe Conkling as did Warner Miller. Hiscock is very popular with his fellow citizens of all parties in Syracuse, and in all his characteristics, mental and physical, is the agreeable converse in age, ability, energy and eloquence of the ancient and fishlike person whom Massachusetts preferred to the young, brilliant and genial John D. Long. The wonder is how such "feeble keys of untuned antiquity" get re-elected when they are "teetering" on the verge of the grave. The explanation lies in the fact that mediocre men always cultivate assiduously all the petty arts of provincial politics that thoroughly masterful men neglect or scorn to practice. The mediocre politician is nothing when he is not cunning enough to get on by bowing, smiling and handshaking with everybody at state fairs, local political conventions and kindred gatherings of his constituents. He talks "taffy" to the ministers, kisses his hand to the crowd, asks every farmer anxiously concerning the health of his family and the number of his cows, or rather the number of his family and the health of his cows. He cultivates the self-esteem of oratorical pedagogues and college professors, he expresses with lugubrious solemnity his conviction that you cannot have too much talk about religion nor too much legislation on the subject of temperance. He persuades a state that does not grow any wool that the only way to bull the market for sheep pelts will be to return him to congress until death snatches him to the paradise above that is specially prepared for those disembodied philanthropists who were known in this world as high protectionists. He carefully and cunningly cultivates the low, mean, vulgar jealousy and hostility that sometimes obtains between large communities and small towns, and on all these filthy, frothy little currents of provincial prejudice, which he usually whips into foam, your political mediocrity floats constantly into office, to the exclusion of abler and more high spirited men. He sinks his claws into his saddle after a few years so firmly that nothing short of a political revolution or the irresistible hand of death can dismount him from the public dromedary, which he has ridden so long that the twain have become one flesh. You cannot tell which is the rider and which is the meek and patient public any more than you tell by looking at a centaur where the man ends and the horse begins.

That is the way mediocrities get into congress, stay in congress, grow old, weak and witless in congress, and finally die in congress, to be extravagantly buried by congress at the public expense.

WHAT JUDGE GRESHAM SAID.

The Federal Reporter publishes the decision of Judge Gresham of the U. S. circuit court, dismissing the Wabash receivers for breach of duty to the bondholders and appointing the eminent jurist, ex-Judge Cooley, of the Michigan supreme court, receiver of the road. The dismissed receivers claimed the right, through orders obtained from another judge, to pay debts of the Missouri Pacific railway by receivers' certificates, which were expected to have priority to the earliest mortgages of the Wabash, and by holding out threats of enforcing them as such to compel the bondholders to accept a lower rate of interest for bonds that were perfectly secure if the rights of the holders were respected. By the action of the receivers that Judge Gresham's decision dismissed these bonds of the Wabash had been greatly depreciated in value, because the receivers had diverted the resources of the road to the payment of debts of the Missouri Pacific instead of to the payment of the interest on the bonds of the Wabash. Judge Gresham states that "an order was obtained directing the receivers to pay a loss of more than three millions of dollars, incurred by the Missouri Pacific in operating the Wabash system, as lessees, just as if it was a debt of the Wabash railroad, when it was, in fact, that of the lessees to whom the profits would have accrued, and who therefore were responsible for the losses."

Judge Gresham further points out the outrage of the order directing the receiver to indorse $2,300,000 of notes of the Wabash railroad indorsed by Humphreys, one of the receivers, and by Gould, Dillon and Sage, directors of the Wabash. That is, this order directed the receiver to consider the debts due the [illegible] and the directors, who had robbed the road, a prior lien to the rights of the bondholders. These receivers supplied the railroad with coal from a mine owned by Humphreys, one of the receivers, and by directors Gould, Sage, Dillon and Ridgely. Judge Gresham, with cutting severity and implied sarcasm, says of this transaction: "Men with a proper appreciation of their rights and of the rights of others—trustworthy men—are not apt to be found in such inconsistent relations. Gould, Humphreys, Dillon, Sage, Hopkins and Ridgely are men of sterling integrity, if their interests in the coal company did not improperly influence their action as directors of the Wabash company."

The minority of the bondholders, who refused to accept a lower rate of interest for their bonds, although threatened by the receivers that if they stood out they "would enter into the most complicated litigation ever known in the railroading of this country, with its exasperating delays and endless expense," are told by Judge Gresham that they can get ample legal redress. He dismisses the receiver and directs the mortgage to be foreclosed for the benefit of the minority bondholders, who refused to be bullied out of their rights by Gould & Co. Judge Gresham says in substance that he will not permit the payment of the loss of one railroad out of the property in the hands of the receiver of another, belonging to the mortgage creditors, nor will he permit the payment by the receiver of the receiver and Gould's indorsements of unsecured debts.

Yesterday the house of representatives passed the interstate commerce bill, just as it came from the senate, refusing all amendments. Last night the associated press furnished, by telegraph, a very full summary of the bill, but as the entire bill, received through private sources, was published by THE OREGONIAN about ten days ago, it is deemed unnecessary to reprint it now. The bill, as laid before our people through these columns, has already been studied intently by those whom it most concerns, and if full copies of it should still be wanted, they will be found in THE DAILY OREGONIAN of January 11.

"Siglin said he had no feeling." This statement comes in the legislative report almost every day. He has in fact shown about as little sensibility as any man who ever sat in the legislature.

THE LEGISLATURE

Brief Morning Session and Adjournment until Monday at 2 o'clock

SALEM, Jan. 21.—The proceedings were brief today, both houses adjourning at noon till Monday at 2 o'clock. A large number of bills were reported from the various committees but none of them came to a third reading in either house. An effort to revive the Gray resolution to send committees to Astoria to look into the boat and fishery matters failed, whereupon Gray personally invited a large number to go with him. They went down by afternoon train and took a special boat for Astoria at 4 o'clock. No action was taken in the matter of investigating the charge against the chairman of a committee of making an infamous proposal to a young woman who applied to him for clerical work, but it is stated positively that some action will be taken on Monday.

HOUSE.

The house met at [illegible]

House bill No. [illegible], the tax commission bill, was withdrawn from the committee on assessment and referred to the committee of the whole.

MEMORIALS.

The memorial praying congress to order the [illegible] territorial war claims paid, was upon a favorable report from the committee on Indian affairs adopted.

Fay's resolution for payment of the Union county company in the Nez Perce Indian war adopted.

Wager's senate joint memorial praying forfeiture of unearned land grants in this state adopted.

"THREE TIMES LOSER."

Mayer moved to reconsider the vote by which the senate resolution authorizing a committee to visit Astoria was laid on the table.

Maxwell moved that further consideration of this matter be indefinitely postponed. Carried.

ELECTION TO ELECT U. S. SENATORS.

Paulsen's memorial No. 6 praying for a change in the national constitution providing for the election of United States senators, came up upon a report without recommendation from the judiciary committee. Paulsen spoke in its support taking ground that this was a change generally demanded by the people.

Goodsell opposed the memorial. He thought Paulsen went too far in assuming that this change was generally demanded. He thought the language reciting that senators were often elected by bribery and fraud too strong, and did not think it was decently respectful to the senate to whom it was addressed.

Benjamin stood with Paulsen. He was in favor of putting the matter in the hands of the people.

Richardson was in favor of electing directly every officer from president down.

Paulsen called attention to the scandals of the two preceding sessions of our own legislature resulting in the election of a man whom he doubted to be the choice of the people.

Bilyeu supported the memorial. He said that the gentleman from Multnomah objected to the language charging bribery and corruption in national elections, but nevertheless it was true. He then proceeded to review the conduct of the senate in recent years charging that they were the agents of corporations not of the people. Goodsell said that he could not see that the house of representatives elected directly by the people was more ready to listen to the people than the senate.

Daly pointed to the scandals now being reported from day to day through THE OREGONIAN. He was in favor of electing every officer from president down. He said that the people of Oregon wanted this change, and no man who represented the cow counties ought to vote against the wishes of the people. After some further discussion the memorial was adopted.

Adjourned at noon till 2 o'clock Monday.

SENATE.

The morning session met at 10. Prayer by [illegible] Webb.

Watts made a motion to refer so much of Gov. Moody's message as refers to assessments and taxation to the committee on assessments. Carried.

Hare moved that so much of Gov. Moody's message as refers to the irreducible school fund be referred to the committee on education. Carried.

S. R. by Dimick, requesting the secretary of state to print 250 copies each of the annual reports of railroads doing business in this state, on file in his office, adopted.

As a committee of the senate to examine into the immigration board matters the president appointed Shupe and Lee.

H. J. R. No. [illegible] for the election of United States senators by the people at large—Hare moved that the senate concur. The motion prevailed. Siglin, Simon, Carson, Stanley and Williams voted no.

Gray made a motion that so much of Governor Moody's message as refers to the pilotage system at the mouth of the Columbia river be referred to the committee on commerce. Carried.

On motion of Miller, S. C. R. No. 4 for a joint committee of five to examine the work done by the state board of immigration was called up and adopted.

As committee to examine into the expenditures of the state agricultural board President Carson appointed Cartwright and Cauthorn.

The special committee on H. J. R. No. 7, asking that congress be memorialized to improve Tillamook bay and Trask river, reported favorably and the senate concurred in the resolution.

Wager moved the adoption of S. J. M. No. 3 asking congress to forfeit the Northern Pacific land grant. Carried.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

"THOSE EVENING BELLS."—There is a great diversity of opinion in this region in regard to the propriety of ringing church bells, and numerous persons are expressing their ideas on the subject. Rev Driver, of East Portland, who stands by his bell, thinks that the substitution of a few strokes of it for a general alarm would greatly cripple or destroy church work He says "Bells, like all other things in Christian progress, grew out of necessity, and people living remote from churches failing to hear a few taps, from difference in time, would come straggling in to the confusion of the whole congregation." The Astorian says "The ringing of a bell is like italics in a newspaper. Both are insults to the intelligence of the people Time was when no one but princes could afford a time piece, but nowadays, when a clock that correctly marks the hours can be had for a trifle, the average bell is only a nuisance. The bell is a relic of barbarism and superstition, and is out of place in these days of popular intelligence. The bell is of use and necessity in the case of a fire alarm (when the fire is in this world)." A popular vote on the question would sustain the Astorian's idea by a large majority, but unfortunately it is the minority fellows who have the bells and they are bound to ring them, so people who do not like their slam-banging may as well stuff cotton in their ears and try to worry along for a while.

ROUGH SNOWSHOE TRIP.—Lieutenant Fred Schwatka, who has taken a party of snowshoers into the National park, finds it a harder place to get along in, apparently, than the Arctic regions. A dispatch to the Helena Herald from Mammoth Hot Springs, January 16, says "The Schwatka party has been in the upper park twelve days It encountered more difficulties than was anticipated The mercury froze up and the roads drifted up The one went forty degrees below and the other six to ten feet above. The lieutenant was taken sick at Norris geyser basin Joseph W Brackett remained with him, while Mr Henry Ross, the famous Canadian snowshoer, went on with the balance of the party to the Firehole river Lieutenant Schwatka went as far as Old Baldy, about three and a half miles west of Norris. Jack Barronett returned with him. The lieutenant abandoned his expedition with great reluctance He bled profusely at the lungs, and under the circumstances it would have been fatal for him to have gone further After a nine days' rest at Norris, Lieutenant Schwatka started for the Grand canyon on web snow shoes It was a daring attempt in his present state of health It cannot be accomplished in less than four days."

THE DIVORCE MILL.—Yesterday morning in department No 2 of the state circuit court, Wm Murphy was granted a decree of divorce from Louisa J. Murphy Murphy is a man about 80 years old He married Louisa in 1880, both having grown-up families The children could not get along together, and in 1883 Louisa left her home in Marion county, near Salem, and came to Albina, where she has since resided. Defendant was given the custody of the little girl born of their union. In the case of Marsh vs. Marsh, in which a divorce was granted, the causes were desertion, drunkenness and failure to provide Two new divorce suits were begun yesterday. Nellie O'Reagan and W D O Reagan were married in this city November 25, 1882 The wife now prays that a decree may be granted her on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment i. e that in October of last year, while plaintiff was sick in bed and in need of a physician, her husband left her and attended balls, theaters and otherwise shamefully neglected her John Grow prays for a divorce from Mehala Grow They were married in April, 1864, in Jackson county, and it seems that three years ago she willfully and without cause deserted and abandoned him.

J. W. BRAZEE'S WILL.—The provisions made by the late J. W. Brazee in his last will, made November 11, 1886, are as follows He bequeaths to his wife the family residence, two lots on the corner of Eleventh and Yamhill streets, together with all the personal property belonging to said homestead The rest of his property is to be equally divided between his wife and four children, namely, Fannie, Nellie, Albert and Esle, the eldest 13 and the youngest 8 years of age. The division is not to be made until the youngest child shall come of age He also bequeaths to his wife all the revenues derived from said property for the maintenance of herself and children that she shall have sole management of the estate and convert all or any portion into money if she so desires The wife is appointed executrix without bonds The estate is valued at $165,000

STILL AT LARGE.—And still the escaped prisoners from the county jail are at large Day before yesterday three men answering to the description of all the prisoners except Ryan were known to have crossed the river at the White house about 4 o clock in the afternoon and to have procured provisions from a farmhouse back of Milwaukie, but nothing has been seen of them since Yesterday afternoon about 3 30 o clock two men tramps were detained at the O & C station in East Portland on suspicion of their being the parties wanted Jailer Lounsberry, being notified, at once went over, but failed to recognize either of them as his property C K Ross, one of the four, is well known through the interior as Wilson, a sewing machine agent. He is a Canadian and has but recently come from Montreal and speaks a little French of a mongrel character

JUSTIFICATION FOR MURDER.—The case of Mrs Druse, under death sentence in New York state for the murder of her husband, is exciting wide interest, and many petitions have been handed Gov. Hill asking for a commutation of sentence on the ground that a woman should not suffer capital punishment Mrs Druse says the first quarrel with her husband was about a newspaper. She took one that he was saving because it had an article on Oregon and used it for a dress pattern That made him angry and he boxed her ears with another newspaper Should she succeed in securing a pardon it will be a relief to our citizens to know that she had destroyed the article on Oregon and is therefore not likely to be tempted here by it. She has set a dangerous example to women who have their ears boxed occasionally

ROUNDABOUT JOURNEY.—Alaska's interior is not likely to remain much longer an unknown country Prospectors for gold will soon have explored every valley and stream there and each bring back his quota to the knowledge of that dreary place The last to come in is James Miles, well known in the town, who has been prospecting the head waters of the Yukon with a party of twenty five On returning they had the good fortune to find a passage back though by a roundabout way, along the coast of Siberia on the United States man of war Bear which was looking for the wrecked Amethyst. He reports that the native Indians on that coast have the features and general appearance of Chinamen, and live in abject filth and misery

FAITH TO A FRIEND.—A Russian terrier owned by Councilman Hackeney, which is generally considered the ugliest dog in the city, has formed a very strange attachment for his master's horse Mr Hackeney loaned his horse to a friend a few days since, and when the animal was injured in one leg he was immediately returned He was doctored up and turned out in the river bottom The dog accompanied the horse and stayed with him all through the pelting storm for the two days, keeping close to him as he grazed, and not offering to leave him to go and get anything to eat. At last Mr. Hackeney had to go and make the dog come home to prevent him from being starved It may be that the dog was guarding the horse, for fear some friend would come to borrow it again, but Mr Hackeney thinks he was staying by the horse out of friendship

BAD BOYS.—There have been numerous complaints of late in regard to the doings of bands of young hoodlums in South Portland Yesterday a lady called at the police office and asked that a policeman be sent out to that part of the city to look after a gang of bad boys. Her daughter teaches the "band of hope" school on Meade street between First and Second, and a lot of boys constantly congregate in that vicinity, throwing mud against the windows, annoying the pupils, and in various other ways rendering themselves very obnoxious The parents of these bad boys should look after them and save themselves grief and trouble in the future

HELD TO ANSWER.—Mrs Weltha M Chambers, of East Portland had an examination before U S Commissioner Paul R Deady yesterday on a charge of opening a letter belonging to one Howard She was held to answer in the sum of $200, and allowed to go on her own recognizance Mrs Chambers is the woman who was said by this man Howard to have wandered away with another man named Howard, the scallawag who shot James A. Smith. The trouble between Mrs Chambers and Mr Howard is a very mixed matter, and the public have but little interest in the result.

THAT PORTRAIT.—The crayon portrait of a military looking man in McKercher & Thompson's has been the subject of much interest. Mr Norman Biles, the young artist, did the work and the subject is a portrait of Capt. Smith, of Buffalo, N. Y Mr. Biles is now giving his entire time to the execution of crayon and other artistic work at his home, Sixteenth and C streets.

Get the best. Hood's Sarsaparilla has no equal as a blood purifier and strengthening medicine.

PAINTING OF A SHIP.—In Brown & McCabe's office is a sketch in oil of the British ship Jessie Osborne The picture was presented by Capt. Wilson to Capt. Brown who has framed it and presented it to Wm F McCabe. The Osborne was wrecked entering San Francisco, bought and repaired by San Francisco parties and sailed under the American flag for a time as the Mariposa. Later on she was sold for English account and given her old name Last September she left here with a cargo of flour.

TWO SORTS OF LOSS.—Messrs. J. G. Boos & Co of Forest Grove write "We have not received our daily for two days For ourselves we only miss the market report. But for the boys that sit around the store stove, the daily news of a prospective war in Europe is a great loss."

THE EAST SIDE.

A Family in Need of Assistance—Marriage at Mount Tabor—General News

The saddest and most heart rending case that has come under the observation of the east side reporter is that of the Dooley family This family were burned out of their home in McMillan's addition last October and since then have suffered every privation For the past week they have been in a half starved condition The children have actually cried for bread, and that too within two blocks of prominent Christian churches. Dooley seems utterly incapable of providing for his children and the little ones need immediate attention There is difficulty between husband and wife and yesterday he was bound over to keep the peace Last night Mrs. Dooley with two of her children stayed at the house of Mrs Cormack who says they were in a famished condition They will be cared for to-day some gentlemen intend supplying their immediate necessities Any kindly disposed people desiring to assist the children either by money, clothing or food can do so by leaving the same at the east side reporter's office on Fourth street, between I and J The case demands immediate attention

PROPOSED INCREASED TAX LEVY

A short time ago a special committee composed of city officials met Col S B Harrington member of the legislature and instructed him to have the charter amended so as to allow an increased tax levy on the present assessment roll of two mills and the city council last Monday further instructed this special charter committee to raise the tax levy one half mill more making two and a half mills in all Should this amendment become a law it is proposed to collect this additional levy on the present assessment roll so that a man who has already paid his taxes will be required to come up and pay just one half what he paid a few days ago For instance An assessment on the treasurer's books that calls for $20 now will call for $30 should the amendment pass There is no doubt the increase is absolutely necessary but the fact is to be deplored that the city government has been so wretchedly administered previously as to compel this increase in city taxes The remedy for this lies alone with the people

GONE HOME.

This morning young Millron, who shot himself accidentally the early part of the week, takes the train for his home in Junction City He came down on a visit about a week ago with a cousin, and one day while in Portland, took a fancy for a small pistol he saw in a show window, and bought it. This he brought to East Portland with him and the accident happened as was related When he left Junction he was "cock of the walk" among the young fellows up there, but now his proud spirit is humbled and instead of going back with something in his hip pocket to terrorize over his companions he goes back with a humble and contrite heart The first intimation his friends at Junction will have of the affair will reach them when they read this account as his name has not been given until now

CANVAS BACK

Joe Paquet and Woodson Scroggin went hunting for ducks on Sauvie's island the first part of the week, and bagged forty five twenty seven of which were canvas backs Mr Paquet says hunting is good down on Sauvie's island Swan have been plentiful there this year One night a flock of 150 swans collected and some hunters fired on them until they were frightened away Since then not many have been seen Senator L. E. Barin, of Clackamas county, wrote down for six canvas backs Mr Barin wants these ducks by next Sunday Joe thinks the senator has some measure in the legislature he wants passed, and he proposes to see what effect roast duck may have on the votes of the senators

AN IMMENSE EAGLE

Last Monday Joe Paquet, of this city killed the largest eagle ever seen in this country The bird was killed down on Sauvie's island and Mr Paquet brought him to town yesterday. He is at Raffety's drug store and certainly is a fine specimen of the gray eagle From tip to tip of his wings he measured seven feet and nine inches, while the length of his body is three feet and two inches He is a monster His claws and bill giving the impression that in life he would have been a hard customer to handle if wounded. The bird will be stuffed and set up at Raffety's drug store

PLACE FOUND

Mention was made a few days ago that Capt. Napkin was anxious to secure a place for a little boy who had come as a stowaway on his ship from Liverpool A gentleman came to THE OREGONIAN office yesterday and said he knew of a place for the boy The party will be at THE OREGONIAN office at 10 o'clock to day so if Capt. A RELIC OF IGNORANCE.

PRINEVILLE Jan 11 1887

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

I see that several propositions are now before the legislature of reducing the interest on money and reestablishing the so called usury law

There are several phases of this question that it seems to me the members of the legislature overlook in voting for such a law The first and most important is this A citizen of this state ought to have the right (and by all rules of common sense of law or justice has the right) to make such contracts as he sees fit to make, always providing he does not transgress a moral law This right is guaranteed by our constitution It is the privilege of an American citizen to be untrammeled in the free exercise of his personal rights But the legislature steps in and says to the citizen with regard to borrowing money "You are not capable of managing your own affairs You are idiots imbeciles lunatics and drunkards and we will put you in a position where your contracts shall not bind you where you can take advantage of your own rascality and rob your neighbor by promising to pay him a certain amount of money for the use of a certain other amount and then come into court and plead the baby act" Is that not a nice picture Yet it is true to the life The state is exercising the same control over all its citizens in this matter that the courts exercise in protecting the idiot imbecile and lunatic Is it a pleasant picture Then again if I want to borrow money, am I not as capable of judging of its value to me as the legislature Another thing The legislature can not force a man to lend money any more than it can force him to sell his horses cattle or sheep

Again It is worth more to lend money to some people than others the man his circumstances his personal standing the enterprise he is engaged in or is about to engage in what the money at the particular time is worth to the lender or borrower—all these things go to make up the value of the use of money

Why not say to the farmer "You shall only have 50 cents per bushel for your wheat, you can make a profit at that rate. The men you sell to are not able to pay more and are not capable of knowing what wheat is worth—in fact, are not capable of taking care of themselves and you are in the habit of charging enormous prices when you get a corner on wheat. Pass such a law and you would hear a very loud and prolonged squeal from the farmer and yet it is just as consistent as the so-called usury law

This usury law is one among a class of laws that are passed mainly for the purpose of getting even on some one or cinching some particular class of people

The underlying principles of such laws are vicious to the last degree for the reason that it is class legislation and interferes with the personal rights and freedom of the individual and in addition it makes hypocrites and liars out of both borrower and lender and makes all classes of people lose respect for the laws and the law making powers Yours respectfully BORROWER

THE CADET CORPS.

PORTLAND Jan 21 1887

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

There has been a general misunderstanding regarding the formation of the Cadet Corps First Regiment Second Brigade, Oregon State Militia.

It has been asserted by many that Prof R K Warren of the high school, put it into the heads of the pupils of the high school to start a militia corps, in order that he might be made captain and in that way gain notoriety

This is a mistake Several pupils of the high school thought it would be a good thing on account of it being a good discipline, and an excellent drill for them They talked it up among the pupils and finally drew up a petition asking Prof Warren to drill us

He thought well of it and consulted with Capt Beebe of Company K who said that he would do all he could to get us under the government of the regular militia. A committee waited on Gen Lamb and it was through him that we became a cadet corps We intend to elect Prof Warren our captain not because he is our teacher in the high school nor because he assisted us in the formation of the corps but because he is the choice of all the members of the corps

SALEM NOTES.

Thos F Parker Yaquina, J R Cardwell Carlton H C Condon Arlington and F A Moore St Helens have been appointed notaries public by Gov Pennoyer

The statement in the Statesman that Rev J C Baker was to be transferred to another charge in the Baptist church was a mistake He will retain his present position as general mission agent for the North Pacific coast while Rev Burchett will be general mission agent for Oregon

Thursday says the Statesman was commenced the work of changing the personnel of the force at the penitentiary, in accordance it is understood with the wishes of the new superintendent, Mr Clow, who will assume his position on February 1 It was intimated to Mr Collins the present superintendent, that it would be desirable for one Chas. Armstrong of Douglas county to be appointed guard, and to make room for him it was necessary to relieve from duty some one of the present force The names of the four unmarried guards were placed in a hat and the one whose name was drawn was to be removed Richard Westacott drew the prize, and now he is footloose It won't be very long before the entire force at present employed in the prison will be supplanted

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK Jan 21 Government bonds dull and steady The stock market was feverish and irregular The bulls generally had the better of the situation in the forenoon and after the passage of the interstate commerce bill the bears made a combined attack upon the market and even the conspicuously strong stocks of the morning became weak The opening was weak the first prices being from ⅛ to ⅜ cents lower than last evening s final figures The market was strong in the early dealings under the lead of Jersey Central and New England The advance spent itself in the first hour and the market became dull and soggy A reaction occurred early in the afternoon, but later the decline was resumed with vigor and the last hour saw the movement accelerated. Pacific Mail and Jersey Central offered the most resistance There was a slight rally toward the close but the market was weak at or near the lowest prices reached The entire active list is lower except Jersey Central Cameron Coal and Pacific Mail.

Mining shares strong at the following quotations Alice $1 20 Bulwer $1 25, Best & Belcher $9, Bodie $2 Con Cal & Va $21 Eureka $6 50 Horn Silver $1 50 Hale & Norcross $7 75 Mono $ 75, Sierra Nevada $6 Standard $1 25 Savage $7 25 Silver King $7

A CLEVER THING

First Rough Draft of Gov Pennoyer s Inaugural

How it is Said to have Read Before it was Edited Elaborated and Amended

The Benton Leader a democratic paper published at Corvallis says it has been furnished with the following which purports to be the original rough draft of Gov Pennoyer s inaugural address In many respects it is more clever than the finished production and really is a thing to be studied and admired. There is no feature of literature more entertaining than the study of first drafts of great works and the revelation it brings of the processes by which they were advanced from their original germs to the forms in which we possess them In the British museum there is a collection of this kind which is beyond all price In like manner this original draft of Gov Pennoyer s address ought to be preserved for future purveyors for the Curiosities of Literature

Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly The abuses vicious class legislation and encroachments of the federal government will make my term of office especially burdensome as you are probably aware that the eyes of the country are fixed on me with expectancy for the correction of these evils Feeling then the great responsibility which the march of events the anti Chinese agitation and THE DAILY OREGONIAN have placed upon me I approach my duties with feelings of awful satisfaction and with the fervent hope that the God of our fathers will not undertake to interfere too much with my administration or the reserved rights of this state

RIVER IMPROVEMENTS

The federal government has been very liberal with corporations, but has been very niggardly with our state It is clearly one of the reserved rights of the state to receive liberal appropriations and I think the federal government ought to be called on to make a portage and canal around the Dalles very speedily During the late canvass I advocated that this portage should be constructed by the state but I thought at the time that I should get the support of Eastern Oregon by such advocacy in which I was to [illegible] As I was triumphantly elected now [illegible] I do not deem it necessary further [illegible] The federal government would be guilty of an act of gross usurpation of our reserved rights were it to refuse longer to make adequate appropriations for that and other improvements in Oregon

The grant of the swamp lands to this state by the general government was a Greek gift (Virgil) The lands have been filed on and acquired by a few individuals I am credibly informed that a filing is soon to be placed on Mt Hood as the last possible piece of swamp land left. It is better that the government should have these lands back than that they should be so monopolized by a few I therefore recommend that you speedily tender Mt Hood to the general government to the end that it may be rescued from the grasp of these greedy cormorants There would then be nothing left of the [illegible] in the shape of swamp land except the [illegible] store pictures of Mt Hood

RIVER AND HARBOR OBSTRUCTIONS

I mean mainly bridges across the Willamette at Portland I was not intending to say much on this subject but Senator Dolph on the second day of the present congress introduced a bill to authorize a bridge at Portland I don t want any bridge there I live in Portland myself I have a saw mill there Senator Dolph is very swift in this matter He probably does not know that I am elected governor of Oregon I desire you to inform him by joint resolution that I don t approve of the bridge project and that I should like to have an explanation as to what he means by his action in regard to this measure Besides congress cannot authorize the construction of this bridge The national government possesses no powers but such as have been delegated to it The states have no[illegible] but such as they have surrendered The power to authorize the building [illegible] bridge below my saw mill is not to [illegible] the federal constitution It has [illegible] taken from the state [illegible] comes here I think [illegible]

[illegible] MONOPOLIES

[illegible] passed fixing the maximum rate to be charged by telegraph and railroad companies also the charges for gas water electric lights telephones and saw logs In this law however should not be included rough and dressed lumber for obvious reasons Money lenders make more money than anybody else A law should be passed requiring that they should pay the borrower not less than 7 per cent on the loan to compensate the latter for the trouble of hunting up the lender All attorneys should be required to pay their clients a fee of not less than $10 for representing them in court

ABOLISHMENT OF OFFICES

The office of dairy inspector ought now to be abolished The expense of this office is not one of the reserved rights of the state As the officer is to carry on the war against oleomargarine I think the power to do this comes clearly under that provision in the federal constitution which gives congress the power to declare war We do not need any longer a paid agent at Washington to look after the swamp land matters The swamp land is all gone We do not want a board of immigration either As long as we have the Chinese here what we want is an emigration board I should like to be chairman of that board Nat Baker would make a good member So would John Myers

THE REGISTRY LAW

The supreme court declared the recent registry law null and void I say it is constitutional It is the law to-day The supreme court can t nullify a law That has been the doctrine of the courts for a hundred years but it is not my doctrine It is true that the result of this doctrine of mine is to make the last election void None of you except hold over senators have a right to your seats I am myself a usurper But I have a precedent for this usurpation in my own history I refer to the time when I and Nat Baker and his compatriots captured Mayor Gates s meeting at Portland The judges must obey the law everybody must obey the law except me It is one of my reserved rights to do as I please I have never delegated that right It must reside somewhere It resides in me I think however you would better make the registry law applicable to Portland alone I want to cut Joe Simon s wind down there Some of you will probably want to do the same thing here before you get through this legislature

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

There are three constitutional amendments now pending, one relating to raising salaries one to prohibition and one changing time of election from June to November You can submit these but you must not call a constitutional convention It would probably be republican and might legislate out of office me and the supreme court We could spare the supreme court but it would be a calamity to lose me

THE CHINESE QUESTION

The Chinese are an undesirable population The state has the right which every sovereign has to deport them But that would be too expensive I suggest the better way is to tax those who rent them houses I am indebted for this valuable idea to Mr Pete D Arcy who came near being my private secretary It is very true that there is a treaty between the United States and China which gives the Chinese the rights here of foreigners of the most favored nations But that is not the supreme law of the land though some minor federal courts may consider it so Congress has no right to make that sort of treaty without consulting me I shall not regard the treaty as standing in my way in removing the Chinese My plan differs materially from that of Mr Jefferson Davis His plan was to take his state out of the Union My plan is to take the Union out of my state

FEDERAL COURTS

Some years ago I had a lawsuit with Mr Neff It was in the federal courts and finally in the supreme court of the United States and was decided against me I have carefully examined the federal constitution and I do not find there any authority delegated to the federal government to decide a case against me That decision was therefore a clear usurpation That soured me on federal courts In that case a law of this state was found to be other than I thought it was It is deeply painful to me that the law was not as I supposed it to be I wish you would change it to conform with my thoughts of it It would afford me an ex post facto satisfaction

I recommend that you instruct our members of congress to support

First An income tax

Second To restore the habeas corpus act as it was in 1 8[illegible] Care should be taken however that the United States and especially our own beloved state should not be relegated to the condition of those ancient days

Third The abrogation of the Burlingame treaty I have before stated that this treaty was void but it might be thought otherwise by the United States government and I wish to avoid any unpleasant conflict with a foreign government that sustains such amicable relations with the state of Oregon as does the government of the United States

In conclusion gentlemen I might exhort you to do a great many fine things for the approval of your consciences and the people but I won't I have of necessity been compelled to omit a few things of importance The vacancy of the Bulgarian throne the Colin Campbell divorce case Henry George the Irish question the mysterious disappearance of Mickle and some others will receive my attention in future messages For the present adieu SYLVESTER PENNOYER

NOTES FROM THE DALLES

THE DALLES Or Jan 20

A meeting of the citizens of The Dalles was held under the auspices of the board of trade on Tuesday evening for the purpose of inducing some definite action towards building the proposed bridge across the Columbia which was spoken of in my last communication The meeting was attended by many prominent citizens and taxpayers and a general feeling in favor of the bridge was manifest A committee was appointed to draft an amendment to the city charter authorizing the city to build a bridge and to incur an indebtedness of $ [illegible]000 therefor which is to be submitted to the present legislature Committees were also appointed for the several purposes of conferring with the ferry company as to receiving free ferriage during the process of constructing the bridge to procure estimates of the probable cost of the bridge and to select a location therefor

The opera house has been closed and will be converted into a storage room to be used in connection with Snipes & Kinersly s drug store This leaves The Dalles without any opera house or hall of any description suitable for entertainments

Messrs Ford & Laughlin will in a short time close the skating rink and convert it into a storeroom for agricultural implements which will be occupied by Mr Faloon of Goldendale Thus places of amusement give way to business

A pugilistic encounter occurred between prominent citizens here yesterday afternoon While R H Greely was in French & Co s bank a paper connected with a matter of litigation between Mr Greely and the Wasco Warehouse company D M French [illegible] to Mr [illegible] destroy the paper [illegible] knocking him down and [illegible] Mr [illegible] down [illegible] No very serious damage was done

THE LATE GENERAL HAZEN

January 20 188[illegible]

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The death of Gen Hazen and your remarks about the Stanley Hazen court martial calls up some recollections of the war I was a member of the 41st Ohio the regiment Hazen took out and had a band at Shiloh

Hazen commanded the 19th brigade Nelson s 4th division Buell s army of the Ohio composed of the 9th Indiana Col Moody, 6th Kentucky Col Walter C Whitaker and the 41st Ohio If Hazen did skulk at Shiloh and was guilty of cowardice as charged by Stanley I am sure it was not known to [illegible] and at any rate I did not know it until the court martial proceedings in [illegible] after an interval of some seventeen years But I do remember that about midday (second day of the battle April 7) [illegible] the brigade was broken up and we had made a charge driven the enemy half a mile or so got stopped near Shiloh Church where they had a [illegible] reserve line and artillery were repulsed and driven in turn about to our starting place with heavy losses all this occupying two hours or [illegible] and there were inquiries about Hazen Where s Hazen and where are the [illegible] and [illegible] He was with us when we struck the enemy soon after daylight and along and into the charge I first saw him again about three in the afternoon an interval of probably four hours Do not think he was away from the brigade all that time till he did not know If there was cowardice or disloyalty [illegible] on his part at Shiloh there never was afterward Hazen and the Forty first too were with the [illegible] to the very end of the war and I can say truthfully and knowingly that neither was conspicuous except for good service and doing their full duty Except at Franklin where it was in the reserve the Forty first participated in every battle fought by the army of the Cumberland and did its full share of extra work For instance six months outpost duty with the brigade at Readyville Tenn while Rosecrans's main army lay at Murfreesboro participating with Wood s and Sheridan s divisions in the Orchard Knob affair two days before and pre[illegible] to the great battle of Mission Ridge where the casualties were more than those [illegible] [illegible] Hazen [illegible] Hazen was a long time [illegible] Hazen's first [illegible] the longest of any of [illegible] brigades from the start [illegible] at Shiloh had any thing to do with it In fact I think he was [illegible] by Buell in his official report [illegible] and do a deal of barking [illegible] should be obeying orders The talk of the day was that Senator Ben Wade was responsible for Hazen being kept back Wade alleging that Hazen was of the luke warm McClellan stripe did not want to strike hard blows at the South had said while stationed at New Orleans in 1860 that it was a pity Southern gentlemen should have to fight those Northern dogs

It took time and hard work to live down these accusations which Hazen accomplished as witness his promotions and high command at the close If this communication is over long excuse the very high regard an old soldier has for his true and tried commander as well as the men of his regiment who so nobly did their part in the trying days of [illegible] A WHITTLESEY

NEW YORK LETTERS.

Blakely Hall Tells how Society Receives a New Play

Little Women Not Wanted in Stores—The Sister and Daughter of Horace Greely and other Literary Women

[Correspondence of The Sunday Oregonian.

NEW YORK, Jan 1[illegible] A new play was done at the Lyceum the other night. It was a nice little play with a lot of store clothes, a bewildering variety of baggy trousers, a few vertiginous and genteel remarks, some real water, and Miss Helen Dauvray, who climbed ladders, rocks and precipices with a degree of skill that baffles the keenest dramatic analysis. The author of "Met by Chance" is Mr Bronson Howard, the foremost of American playwrights and financially the most successful. This particular drama has been [illegible] heralded It might be described as a series of Henry James's innocent platitudes varied by the insane twattle of the duchess a[illegible] d[illegible] by H ward.

The audience was vastly amusing It was a gala occasion and the first full test of the anti-hat crusade The great question is decided. In a year it will no longer be fashionable to wear hats in theaters [illegible] was there I knew it by the incessant chatter and the unwonted prevalence of the [illegible] young man who hurried from seat to seat, tossing off glittering bits of verbal brilliancy to ladies in elaborate evening toilets—and bonnet and hatless. The New York society man is a whited sepulchre. He presents an impressive exterior, but that which lies beneath his hair is weak, pallid and perfunctory

Two well known society women sat directly in front of me They were—in a measure—accompanied by an escort. He was a bald and dismal man who sat silently throughout every act and on the fall of the curtain left his seat to the first caller and retiring to the lobby, stood in a corner and hated himself hotly till the bell rang for the curtain to rise again

After the first act a dashing young society man of about fifty five dissipated seasons rushed up to the ladies in front of me and glancing at them archly burst out with

"Tee-hee. Why are you here" Tee-hee.'

"Why Mr Percival Jones, tub-hub, gurgled both the ladies joyously

"Do you go long much this winter

"Not much do you'"

"Very little tee hee

"Tub hub

"Tee-hee

Then Mr Percival Jones made two beautiful little bows and went off in a gale of radiant merriment. An instant later another one hurried up and expressed his delight at seeing the ladies.

"Isn t it lovely he asked with spirited naivete.

"Isn t it said both the ladies rapturously, without having the most remote conception of what anyone was talking about, ' And real rain on the stage

"Yes, haw—made me feel dev'lish damp

"Tee-hee. Do you go long much

"Very little Good bye haw haw '

"Tee-hee Good bye.

This sort of thing was weak, perhaps, but it was much stronger than Bronson Howard's play If it be true, as asserted, that Miss Dauvray gave $5000 for "Met by Chance,' the author is an exceptionally fortunate man, for there seems to be little doubt that what was substantially the same play was refused by the Madison Square Theater several years ago The characters are as old as anything in dramatic literature, and there is not a spark of originality in the treatment The details of the presentation were skillfully elaborate, the scenery wonderfully good and the actors well drilled, clever and intelligent, but it all went for naught. Miss Dauvray plays what is really a secondary part, and she is precisely the same Miss Dauvray as of old complacent and serene, but destitute of the faintest spark of versatility

LITTLE WOMEN NOT WANTED.

Few have any idea of the trials and tribulations of cultivated women small in stature, who seek honest employment in this city The little lady may be modest, pretty, neatly dressed, affable in conversation and agreeable in manner, yet almost every avenue leading to a respectable living is closed to her The shopkeeper picks his female help in the spirit that animates him when he makes a display of goods in his windows. And it must be confessed that practically if not theoretically he is right. A commanding and fine looking woman will sell a sealskin cloak in five cases out of six where a little lady would fail The big woman can expatiate more grandly on its merits, and by wrapping it around her and parading before a mirror show it off in all its perfection. The little lady may be refined gold, but there is nothing impressive about her Her small stature is a misfortune that she cannot remedy She cannot become a floor walker in a drygoods emporium, for she lacks the sweep and carriage and the lordly aplomb which awe employes and attract purchasers. She has great trouble in securing even a place behind the counter Her fragility and tiny size are in the way She cannot reach the goods on a top shelf, nor can she return them after a sale is made without climbing to the counter, which ungraceful act would quench the last spark of dignity left her by nature at her birth She is out of place again in the parlors of a fashionable milliner and dressmaker. You may find her sitting in a little back room adjoining, stitching away in a bad light and a worse atmosphere, with her knees up to her chin, but you will never see her in the salesroom

"A small woman is out of place in a showroom," said Madame Demorest, when one of her friends sought a situation for a worthy but undersized lady ' I have no use for her there. She cannot sell even a pattern People will not go to her They will hardly ask her a question. They pass her by as though she was a child, and go to a saleswoman more stylish and commanding One is prominent and the other is insignificant in appearance, and the prominent figure invariably attracts attention.'

A place for the little lady was found in the mailing department at $6 a week At the same time a tall woman of good figure who carried her head like a Juno neither well educated nor particularly agreeable, was placed in the showroom at $14 per week She was not so refined nor so painstaking as the little one, but she had the physique so highly prized by an experienced modiste. The little one toiled ten hours a day with hardly a respite, while the big woman walked grandly up and down the parlor superintending sales and keeping everything trim.

Petite women are rarely employed as forewomen in large business houses Such situations are almost invariably filled by ladies of regal figure and [illegible] A few are pretty, some are intellectual and less are charming Many are Amazons by nature as well as in appearance They are made majestic by size and bearing [illegible] and are nearly destitute of feeling for those of smaller stature whose lines are not cast in [illegible] pleasant. Such forewomen command from $20 to $60 a week. They can be found in every establishment where fashionable female attire is sold Salaries seem to be proportioned to the size of the woman employed, and not [illegible] her ability To be sure, there are hundreds of little women holding comparatively pleasant situations, but even in these they labor under natural disadvantages. The salaries are light, and their figures forbid promotion The little ones are to be pitied. With warmer hearts, keener intuitions, brighter intellects more knowledge of human nature and more tact in many cases than their larger sisters, their business sphere remains narrow and contracted Marriage alone can take them from the rugged road of life and transplant them to the few pleasant gardens that line the way.
